LITTY EXTENDS TAXPAYERS AID IN 6 TOWNSHIPS

Real Estate Collections
End April 1 in All
Other Sections

MOVE IS MADE TO CUT DELINQUENCY

West, Hanover, Washington, Franklin, Middleton, Unity Stay Open

County Treasurer John C. Littly will close the tax books for all subdivisions of Columbiana county, with the exception of six townships, on April 1.

Several weeks ago the treasurer, acting on his own initiative, continued the current real estate tax collection indefinitely as a result of the banking emergency.

Five Still Unlicensed
Most of the banks in and near Columbiana county are now open again, he pointed out today, with the exception of five which affect certain groups of taxpayers considerably.

The treasurer, therefore, has decided to hold open for collection for a short time longer those districts wherein banks have not been reopened, although the deadline for all other sections of the county will be April 1.

The six townships in which tax payers will be given a further extension are West, Hanover, Franklin, Washington, Unity and Middleton.

Would Reduce Delinquency
"Our purpose in doing this," Littly explains, "is to try to save as many tax payers as we reasonably can from being forced to become delinquent in taxes while their funds are tied up in unlicensed banks."

Littly emphasizes the fact that this ruling applies only to real estate tax collections. The personal tax collection will close on March 31, as announced by Auditor John H. Irwin.

$47,000 in Liquor Taxes—Back in 1917

LISBON, March 27.—During the fiscal year of 1917, which was the last time the Aiken-Dow liquor tax was paid in this county, an old abstract in the office of County Treasurer John C. Littly discloses a collection of $47,000 for that period.

In other words, 49 licenses had been issued for the year, 20 of these being in East Liverpool. Nineteen licenses were taken out in Salem and two in New Waterford. Five were issued in Leetonia and one in Hanoverton.

The license fee at that time for a retail dealer was $1,000. The distribution of the license fee was among the state, county and municipality. The license was collected during the regular tax paying season. The record shows that in East Liverpool one dealer in 1917 paid only $500, indicating that a license had been granted for only six months.

Plant Is Bombed

CLEVELAND, March 27.—The Majestic Dry Cleaning company was damaged by two explosions which police believe were caused by bombs.

Damage was estimated at $1,000. The owner is Harry Weiss, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge in connection with the bombing of a dry cleaning plant at Perryburg, O.

Japs in U. S. After League "Walkout"

En route to Japan following their dramatic withdrawal from the League of Nations, members of the Japanese delegation to Geneva are pictured as they arrived at New York. A conference with President Roosevelt is planned before the party leaves the United States for home. Seated in center is Yosuke Matsukata, leader of the delegation, whose impassioned appeal against the League's vote of censure on Japan preceded the "walk-out."

Greenford School Damaged by Thieves

GREENFORD, March 27.—Thieves who broke into the Greenford school, following a play presented by the juniors Friday evening did considerable damage to the building.

The damage was discovered today and the sheriff's office at Youngstown notified, deputy sheriffs making an investigation.

A glass in a door was broken to gain entrance, while several windows in the rear also were smashed. Cupboard doors in the domestic science rooms were broken and several articles stolen from the school.

FEDERAL SALARY SLASH LOOMING

President Roosevelt Expected to Impose 15 per cent Cut April 1

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 27.—Indications that a 15 per cent salary cut for federal employees would be imposed by President Roosevelt, effective April 1, were given today following presentation of a survey by the labor department that the cost of living had fallen 23 per cent over the country since 1928.

The President was empowered by the economy bill to reduce salaries up to 15 per cent based upon the reduction in living costs.

The executive order for the action is being prepared by the budget bureau, and official word has gone out that it would be issued in time to take effect the first of the month.

After a special survey, the labor department's bureau of statistics reported the following drops in costs between 1928 and December, 1932: Foods, 37 per cent; clothing, 25 per cent; rent 24 per cent; fuel and lights 13 per cent; house furnishings, 26 per cent; miscellaneous, including doctors, medicines, street car fares, moving pictures, newspapers, telephones, laundry, toilet articles and tobacco, four tenths of one per cent.

The costs of living in the District of Columbia, where thousands of government employees live, was placed at 21 per cent less.

Wellsville Youths to Face Grand Jury

EAST LIVERPOOL, March 27.—Larimer Stout, aged 19, and James J. Long, aged 16, both of Wellsville, were held under $3,000 bond today by Municipal Judge Harry Broxey following grand jury action, after they pleaded not guilty to highway robbery charges in connection with the kidnaping of Thomas Alcock, of Wellsville, Feb. 17.

Alcock told police the suspects fled in his auto after taking him to a rural zone near Steubenville, robbing him of $18, and binding him to a tree.

GATESHEAD, DURHAM, Eng., March 27.—Seven persons were killed and 24 injured by a gas explosion in a three-family apartment house here today.

JAPS FORMALLY LEAVE LEAGUE

Decision Goes to Geneva With Approval of the Emperor

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, March 27.—Japan today formally ended a membership of more than 13 years in the League of Nations.

The final action was taken by the privy council, and the long awaited decision was transmitted to Geneva with the approval of Emperor Hirohito.

The emperor, in a rescript issued to his subjects today, said "this majesty has been pleased to command his government to accede from the League of Nations," following a disagreement in the empire's policy in support of Manchukuo and opinions of the league.

Will Cooperate for Peace
The rescript adds that despite secession, Japan intends to continue cooperation in the league efforts to assure peace and maintain friendly relations with other powers.

The resignation was telegraphed to Geneva after Premier Makoto Saito had obtained the emperor's sanction.

The message did not mention the South Pacific Islands lying between the Philippines and Hawaii, former German possessions over which Japan was given mandates by the league. It was stated officially that Japan is determined to hold the island and will continue to make the required annual reports to the league mandates commission. If any question is raised concerning them, it will not be Japan.

Japan will continue to participate in the world disarmament, economic

Potters Will Hold Summer Fete June 17

The next annual outing of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held Saturday, June 17.

The site has not been determined. At a recent conference at National headquarters in East Liverpool, Chairman George Goppert announced the appointment of a number of special committees to arrange for the athletic events, entertainment features, prizes etc., for the big event.

The committeemen in attendance at the meeting were: Jack Jones, New Castle, Pa.; William Klein, Minerva, Pa.; James Turner, Sebring, Va.; Vaughn Yates, Salem; Paul Shinn, East Palestine; James Green, Cantonburg; James Slavin, George Turner, C. N. Crysler, William Watkin, George Goppert and Will T. Blake of East Liverpool.

Debt Is $123,986

LISBON, March 27.—The total indebtedness of the village of Lisbon has been computed at $123,986.29, according to a statement today by Village Clerk Lloyd C. Binsley.

Of this amount $10,551.91 is a floating debt. There is a balance of $1,799.35 in the sinking fund as of Dec. 31 last, while investments held by the sinking fund trustees total $4,560.

FEDERAL FARM UNITS MERGED BY ROOSEVELT

President Notifies Congress Today of Executive Order

COORDINATION OF AGENCIES IS GOAL

$2,000,000 Saving Is Immediate Effect, Says Administration

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 27.—President Roosevelt informed Congress today of an executive order establishing all federal agricultural credit agencies under one unit.

In the same order, the President abolished stabilization operations by the farm board.

The new agricultural financial organization is to be known as the "farm credit administration," and will include the farm board, the farm loan bureau and various credit agencies in the department of agriculture and reconstruction finance corporation.

Economies Are Predicted

"A better coordination of the agencies involved in our agricultural credit system," the President wrote, "will produce a more uniform program for agricultural credit and will result in substantial economies."

"A saving of more than $2,000,000 is the immediate effect of this order."

He emphasized the maintenance by federal government of the policy of aid to the system of cooperative agriculture.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., chairman of the farm board, who is expected to head the new government unit, was called into conference by the President, later in the day.

COUPLE MARRIED FOR FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton

Stoffer Entertain at Family Party

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Stoffer, residing one mile south of Damascus, on the Damascus-North Georgetown rd., were guests of honor Sunday at a family gathering with their six children, 31 grandchildren and six great grandchildren present.

The celebration was held at the Stoffer home on the farm where the couple has resided for years. A dinner at noon, followed by a social time in the afternoon and distribution of gifts to the honored couple were features of the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoffer, aged 71 and 69, respectively, were married at Homeworth on March 22, which was 50 years ago last Wednesday, but held their anniversary celebration yesterday when all children and families of the latter could attend. The following children were present:

Benjamin Stoffer, Curtis Stoffer and Ross Stoffer, all south of Damascus; Mrs. Joseph Blythe, Hickory, Pa.; Mrs. Earl Hahn of Salem, and Mrs. Christie Crouse of Mineral Ridge.

Creek Is Up Again; Flood Not Feared

LISBON, March 27.—While melting snow and rain have caused the several branches of Beaver creek to swell, no fear of a flood like that experienced several weeks ago is anticipated. The creeks are flowing within banks, although a few sections of lowland have been flooded.

Sunday morning county road crews and trucks were sent out to scatter slag on grades as all improved highways, but a sudden rise in the temperature caused the snow to melt quickly and a high wind quickly dried all improved roads.

Alliance Hospital Names Dietician

Miss Louella Hoopes of Salem Saturday began her duties as dietician at Alliance City hospital, succeeding Miss Edna Edwards of Alliance, who resigned to accept a position in Minneapolis.

Miss Hoopes is a graduate of Salem High school and Battle Creek, Mich., sanatorium. A former assistant at the Salem City hospital, Miss Hoopes also was formerly connected with Harding restaurants in Chicago.

NEFF TRIAL IS ORDERED FOR MONDAY

Body of Mrs. Neff, Shot by Husband, Exhumed For Examination

CYRUS H. NEFF, Canfield lumber and feed merchant, will go on trial in Youngstown county common pleas court, Youngstown, next Monday on a charge of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife last October.

Neff is still in the county jail, Youngstown, pending opening of the trial, the date of which was set today by Prosecuting Attorney J. H. Lehighner. Bond for his release has been refused by Lehighner and Common Pleas Judge G. H. Ciesner who will preside at the hearing.

Seeking additional evidence to present at the trial, the prosecutor Saturday ordered the body of Mrs. Neff, shot by her husband as she was lying asleep on aavenport in their Canfield home, exhumed for examination in a Youngstown funeral home.

Pictures of wounds which caused Mrs. Neff's instant death were taken by court photographers with attorneys for the defense present at the examination. Thorough examinations of the body and the wounds were also made by Coroner M. E. Hayes and a Youngstown pathologist. A deputy sheriff stood on guard outside, preventing the entrance of outsiders.

Among those present in the room during the examination were: Dr. Hayes, Dr. J. M. Ranz, Attorney C. H. Dyson, Attorney Clyde Osborne, Lehighner, Assistant Prosecutors Henry Church and Ralph Turner, Louis Seaborn, Carl Genkinger, County Detective George Haddett, Attorney Harold Hull, and Charles Shriver.

SENATE BALLOT ON BEER NEARS

Redraft of Measure Ready For Vote by Ohio Legislature

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, March 27.—A possibility that the beer bill would come to a vote in the senate tonight loomed today with the announcement that a redraft of the measure had been completed in the early hours in the morning.

Under the redraft a commission of seven is given broad discretionary powers to regulate the sale of the beverage as to time and place.

Working all Sunday afternoon and night, Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer, Senators Harold Mosier and Joseph N. Ackerman, both of Cleveland, and Carlton S. Dargush, member of the tax commission, completed the bill.

They said today they did not expect the judiciary committee to make changes.

Under the redraft the commission is given the right to say whether the beverage will be sold on Sundays and election days, and if it will be sold to minors. At the same time the word "restaurant," where beer is to be sold.

One minor change was also made in the taxation angle. Near beer will be exempt from the tax under the redrafted bill while the tax for distributors was reduced from $1,500 to $1,000 for the first 5,000 barrels and a fee of five cents a barrel for all over this amount.

The local option provision was also changed in the redraft making it impossible to have local option in an individual county but permitting it in any municipality, township or part of township. It also raised the number of petitioners necessary for local option from 25 to 35 per cent of the electors.

Checker Players Meet Here Tuesday

Players from Salem, Sebring and Alliance will participate in another of the series of checker tournaments which will be held by Allen Reynolds post No. 892, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the V. F. W. hall on Vine ave at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

The affair is open to any checker players in Salem and vicinity.

Mrs. Lydia Jeffries, Egypt rd., will be present at the tourney to give instructions and offer assistance.

Body of Alliance Man Found in Shed

ALLIANCE, March 27.—Coroner T. C. McQuate of Stark County today decided that Martin Untch, 51, whose body was found hanging in a shed at his home here Saturday had committed suicide.

Members of his family said he had been unemployed since 1929 and that he had been despondent. According to officials, he had swallowed poison before putting the noose around his neck.

Salem Team Third In Bridge Tourney

Salem was well represented in the annual northeastern Ohio bridge tournament held in Youngstown Friday and Saturday by Round Table club. The tourney consisted of both pair and team-of-four games. In the latter event Friday night Salem was represented by a team consisting of Drs. F. R. Crowe and M. M. Sandrock, playing with James Carpenter and Lloyd Jones, Jr.

The pair games Saturday found two other local players entered. In the afternoon game John Carpenter and Carroll Coburn finished third in a field of 24 pairs, and in the evening event the same pair finished fourth, narrowly beating out another Salem entry, James Carpenter, who was paired with a Cleveland player. Results of the Saturday afternoon game entitled Coburn and Carpenter to cups. The scores were as follows:

First—John H. Law and Mrs. Virginia Jones with 172 1-2 points; second—Ray and Verne Thomas of Youngstown with 150; third—J. H. Carpenter and C. P. Coburn of Salem with 140; the teams of Maurice Maschke and Mayor Mark Moore, and Vincent F. Boland and Henry P. Jaeger tied for fourth with 139. James Carpenter and his partner finished in the top bracket also, ending in ninth place.

NEW WATERFORD WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. Nellie Francis, 33, is Hurt As Two Automobiles Collide

Mrs. Nellie Francis, 33, of New Waterford is in Salem City hospital today, one of six persons who were injured in the collision of two automobiles near Five Points Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Francis is suffering from a dislocated hip and lacerations over both eyes.

Others injured in the crash are her husband, E. W. Francis, a daughter Evelyn, Mrs. E. N. Phillips of Fairfield, a son Floyd, driver of the machine, and C. E. Miller of Smith's Corners, near Youngstown.

The crash occurred when the machine driven by Francis collided with one operated by H. L. Miller at an intersection of highways near Five Points.

H. L. Miller and Kenneth Miller, both of Smith's Corners, and Earl Larkin of Canfield, escaped unhurt. Both machines were badly damaged.

W. J. Weaver Is Host On 80th Birthday

W. J. Weaver, who taught music in some of the rural schools of this district for a number of years, observed his 80th birthday anniversary Sunday.

Mr. Weaver makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Figley, Salem-Lisbon rd, and there was a family dinner at the Figley home to celebrate the event.

For years Mr. Weaver has lived in the vicinity of St. Jacob's Reformed church, north of Lisbon. He is a member of St. Jacob's church and of Mt. Nebo grange. For a long period he served as secretary of the grange, and has taken an active interest in grange work.

MOONEY DARES PROSECUTORS

Prisoner Flings Defiance As District Attorney Withdraws

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Tom Mooney today dared his former prosecutors to again prove him guilty of the Preparedness day parade bombing here in 1916, and if possible hang him.

The dare was contained in a statement given newspapers by Mooney's defense committee, which for more than 15 years has sought a pardon for Mooney.

The statement was based upon action of Superior Judge Louis H. Ward in ordering trial of Mooney on the remaining murder indictment against him—an indictment left on the court records all these years, and resurrected by the Mooney defense with the hope an acquittal would provide a moral wedge for Mooney's release from his life term in San Quentin prison.

Judge Ward set the new trial for April 26, and left prosecution to State Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb. District Atty. Matthew Brady withdrew from the prosecution, saying he did not believe Mooney could be convicted again.

"This is a marvelous opportunity for Fickett, Cunha, and Sullivan to come forward and fill the breach left by the withdrawal of the district attorney's office from the case," said Mooney in his statement.

Students Compete For Scholarships

A general scholarship contest, covering high schools of the county, was held Saturday at Lisbon in charge of H. C. Leonard, county superintendent of schools.

Forty-four seniors were entered from these schools: Lisbon, 9; East Liverpool, 3; Leetonia, 14; Columbiana, 7; Fairfield Centralized, 4; New Waterford, 3; East Palestine, 3; Wellsville, 2.

The papers will be graded at Lisbon by Supt. Leonard and sent to Columbus, where they will again be graded and the winners named.

Winners in the county go to the finals and the winners then in the state contest will be given scholarships next autumn.

Will in Arizona

NOGALES, Ariz., March 27. Nogales, Ariz., is what western towns used to be, but still is. Had a fine visit with Gen. Pershing at Tucson, and am mighty glad to relate to you that he is looking fine and feeling much better. It's an education to talk to him on Europe. Who have we got that should know more?

Saw Mrs. Greenway, Arizona's mother superior, who will perhaps, and should be, Arizona's new congresswoman. Arizona has a fine old character for its new governor. He is a country doctor. Brought ten thousand babies into the world and when they got to voting age he ran for office.

Arizona Legislature passed its bills and adjourned, then somebody accidentally read 'em and they was all unconstitutional and cockeyed. So they want another session. But the old doc says, "No, they are liable to get 'em worse than the last time."

There is a man that not only knows maternity, but knows congressmen.

Will Rogers

CONCEPTION OF SERVICE

Wage earners, employed and unemployed, are interested in the conception of service Miss Frances Perkins holds for the department of labor. They like her belief that it is the department's rightful function to give leadership in labor's ceaseless struggle to better its condition in the capitalist order. They want to believe that in her they have found an extraordinary friend who will look to their interests in the imminent processes of readjustment.

In the capacity which this woman cabinet member apparently believes herself called upon to fill, she, more than any other person below President Roosevelt in the new administration, can become the symbol of hope for the type which Mr. Roosevelt called "the forgotten man" in his campaign. Now that the excitement of election is over, there has been an increase in those who identify themselves with that type. They do not intend to be forgotten; Miss Perkins has given them early assurance that they will not be forgotten.

In the first speech she has made since her appointment, Miss Perkins points out that wage-cutting finally has gone so far that the effect is becoming visible to management. Several hundred employers, she declares, have written to her asking that something be done about this practice which slowly is strangling their businesses. The complainants are helpless; to meet competition of rivals paying starvation wages they are forced into a course of action which they realize leads to ruin. They are being dragged down and down by the rivalry of price.

Wage earners, even in instances where they are strongly organized, are powerless to act. They are secondary victims of management's competition for business at any sacrifice. The better part of management—that part with vision enough to know that buying power is created by wages—is equally powerless. Literally, management and labor are victims of a narrow selfishness which is setting the pace in this deflationary period.

If there is to be a more enlightened policy, it will come from one, or perhaps both, of two causes. Deflation must run its destructive course, or it must be checked short of the goal of a completely paralyzed earning power by enlightened leadership. The new secretary of labor will try to forestall complete deflation by demonstrating its futility. Wage earners pray for her success.

IT JUST GREW

The significant part of fascism is not its flourishing condition in Italy or the threat it presents in Germany, but its general favor among minorities in so many nations. Contrary to a smug opinion of democratic enthusiasts, fascism is more than the practice of a few men. It is theory of government in which people all over the world are interested. It is like a Topsy philosophy it just grew.

To be sure, all dictatorship cannot be placed under the fascist label. Intensely nationalistic leadership in Turkey under Mustafa Kemal Pasha's regime is not fascism, but in that direction one encounters hair-splitting definitions of the means employed to reach the common end, which is complete control of the state under one man. Real fascism is characterized chiefly by rejection of the machinery of political democracy, but also by denial of the right of political opposition.

Thus, Poland and Hungary are commonly considered to be under fascist regimes. In Yugoslavia, Rumania and Lithuania, on the other hand retain enough political democracy to make a question about their form of government, but their suppression of political opposition is sufficient to give them the distinction whether they want it or not. There are vigorous fascist movements in Estonia, Latvia and Finland.

Spain is the exception which proves the rule that Europe is inclining toward dictatorship with a fascist twist. Nevertheless, it is worth remembering that the dictatorship of Primo de Rivera was fascistic in many respects. There is a fascistic complexion to a strongly nationalistic organization in Great Britain, but the organization has little political influence.

Norman Thomas, American Socialist leader, has warned against the danger of a fascist movement in the United States, a possibility not too remote to be considered seriously in view of the serious doubt of political democracy's ability to work in periods of emergency. Dictatorships are not uncommon in Latin America, and many of them bear close resemblance to fascism. There is common talk of a possible fascist movement in Japan.

Obviously, fascism has grown to significant proportions. Reasons are not hard to find. Above all else, people seek leadership in times of severe stress. The dictator, invariably opposed by minorities, answers the need of a majority, or perhaps of another minority which has succeeded in getting control of the army, first essential of success. Fascism is growing, with nothing in sight to check its growth but the possibility of a speedy restoration of international stability.

What Others Say

RECOGNIZE RUSSIA NOW.

With wars spreading in the Far East and South America, and war threatened in Europe, the United States is adding to international chaos and tension by failing to recognize Russia.

The Roosevelt administration cannot move too quickly in this matter. The President wants to cooperate for world peace. That cooperation will be dangerously incomplete unless it includes Russia.

Russia is the key to the Far East. Russia may be the balancing force between peace and war in Europe. Russia is the only nation which has officially offered total disarmament.

Russia is the only nation still fighting for America's forgotten arms limitation proposal. And Russia wants to trade with us. We have virtually killed her valuable trade. Since 1930 our annual sales of $136,000,000 have fallen off 88 per cent. New contracts amounting to upward of a billion dollars are possible upon resumption of normal relations—and, unlike others, Russia has never defaulted on her commercial debts. The biggest corporations in America have dealt with the Soviet government for years and found it trustworthy.

Russia probably is the most stable country and safest customer in the world today. True, most of us do not like Russia's present form of government, but neither do we like those of Italy, Germany and other countries that we recognize.

Our closed factories, our unemployed millions, are desperately in need of the orders which Russia can provide. Immediate Russian recognition by the United States would help American business and world peace—Columbus Citizen.

Science Winning Long Fight

Many of our readers will recall the days when tuberculosis was known as the "white plague." The disease was very prevalent, particularly in the poor quarters of large cities. Little was known about its prevention and cure. But since the discovery of the germ of tuberculosis, great strides have been made in our knowledge of the disease.

Many persons believe that tuberculosis is incurable. This is not true. It is now possible to cure many, indeed, most cases of this disease. Where cure is not possible life can be prolonged and made more comfortable. Almost always early recognition of the disease insures prompt recovery.

Within recent years a new form of treatment for tuberculosis of the lungs has been perfected. This is the so-called "pneumothorax treatment." It is of tremendous value in certain selected cases. The reports of this form of treatment have been most gratifying.

The treatment consists of collapsing the affected lung. This is accomplished by piercing through the pleura, or lining of the chest cavity, with a long needle and permitting the air within the lung to escape. As a result, the lung is gradually collapsed. In order to prevent the lung from expanding, air is pumped into the cavity, outside of the collapsed lung. The process is repeated from time to time and is spoken of technically as a "refill."

The "Refill Treatment"

The first treatment must be given at a hospital. The following treatments may be given at the doctor's office. Numerous clinics have been established throughout the country equipped with facilities for "refills."

This arrangement has enabled many sufferers from tuberculosis to receive this valuable treatment and continue with their daily duties.

It is amazing to see the beneficial effect of this procedure. Severe coughing, loss of weight and presence of tubercular germs in the sputum disappear shortly after the inauguration of this treatment. Collapse of the lung enables the cavity or tubercular spot to heal. Many patients who receive this form of treatment go about their daily work in good physical condition, good spirits and with every expectancy of cure.

The involved lung is observed by X-ray examinations and the progress is carefully checked. The sputum is repeatedly tested for germs of tuberculosis.

When the treatment is completed and cure made possible, the "refills" are discontinued and the lung allowed to expand. No ill effects are observed.

In certain cases it is difficult to collapse the diseased lung. Surgery must be resorted to and in rare instances portions of the ribs are removed before the lung is collapsed. Even such cases are benefited and the results are encouraging.

Tuberculosis is no longer the dreaded white plague. It continues to be a foe to mankind but we are familiar with the methods of prevention and control of the malady. Undoubtedly, the day will come when man will gain complete supremacy over the dreaded disease.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Dairy of a modern Peeps' Early, in my new palette, to see Denise Coblenz's new Boston, Skippy. Then breakfasting with Jack Hobby, over from Paris, with news of the scatter of the old crowd around rue Cambon. And young Bob Hunt came, afever over dining with Helen Keller at Forest Hills.

Working, and then to sit awhile with Verne Porter, abed for the day with the vapors. Afterward, to the Clay Morgans, talking to Captain Norman Kelly Raine, the writer, Mrs. Arthur Samuels and others. Later, walking down Riverside Drive in the gathering dusk. To dinner with Kay Brush and Bob Winans, and the Otis Wieses and Lucius Beebe there. And talking long to Selma Robinson, but did not realize until home that she was the author of as graceful a book of verse as ever I read. So reading Negley Cochran's "E. W. Scripps."

In a Madison avenue skyscraper recently, was held one of the best patronized but least advertised art exhibits of the year. Behind a door bearing the simple lettering, "An American Place," were exhibited paintings of the celebrated Georgia O'Keeffe. No one was asked to buy, and pictures were sold only to those it was believed would appreciate them. Miss O'Keeffe does not sign her paintings. "Anyone may forge a signature," she believes.

Ted Sauter tells of the Scotsman directing a dinner guest to his apartment. "Push the front buzzer with your elbow, then take the elevator to the sixth floor, and, with your elbow, push the door bell on the right." The guest asked why he should use his elbow. Probably New York's most select luncheon club is The Coffee House. It remains the only semblance of Mrs. Pettipiece's French restaurant and Athena of culture near the Cunard docks, where Jack Yeats, father of William Butler Yeats, sat at the head of the table, so ably directing conversation. Those privileged to visit The Coffee House hear nipping comments on the times, as well as a largesse of humor. Royal Cortissoz and Robert Bridges, two wits of consular dignity, usually preside.

Every club has its outstanding wit. Bugs Baer at the Friars, Oliver Herford at the Players, and someone must have succeeded Winton Lackaye at the Lambs. Godfrey Parson's shafts frequently ripple through the corridors of the Century. And Bainbridge Colby still reigns supreme at the University.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, March 23

The ruling planetary forces dominant on this day are disposed to accelerate, stimulate and push to high activity all current affairs, both in employment and in individual projects and adventures of a bold and decisive nature. It is a time for high-pressure efforts to attain the fruition of cherished desires, with negotiations most successful that have to do with corporations, mergers or diplomacy.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very active and progressive year, with the energies and faculties stimulated to high adventure. All should prosper in relations and dealings with mergers, closed corporations or secret bodies. Intrigue and diplomacy assist, and the personal associations are pleasant and prosperous. A child born on this day should be splendidly equipped for large and important enterprises, either in the employ of others or "on its own."

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

Mary missed Steve. Without him, New York lost all its magic; the city would pass more quickly, she felt, if she could find the kind of employment that would actually interest her. The employment agency suggested a number of jobs, but they were all office work. There was a proprietor of a book store who was a secretary and a secretary who could be capable, also, of meeting customers. Mary applied for and got the job.

She was an excellent stenographer and was paid accordingly; in her spare moments, she was expected to help out the two clerks in the shop. The proprietor, Jacob Woolfe, was not inconsiderable to the value of a pretty girl in his shop to dilute the atmosphere of culture and scholarship created by his two men clerks, who were elderly and bespectacled. Woolfe himself, who seemed almost illiterate in speech, possessed an uncanny knowledge of the world's literature. He was a specialist in rare and old editions which he handled personally.

"We are a happy family here, and we do business with the finest ladies and gentlemen in town," he told Mary. "I want you to study the business and make it so I can't get along without you. That's what I tell all my help. Why don't you make me pay you a hundred dollars a week? I would have to do it, Miss Kennedy, if you was worth it. Anytime you earn a hundred a week here, you'll get it."

He was a marvel of efficiency and shrewdness and had built up a mail-order business that exceeded the sales of his store. His immense knowledge of books overwhelmed Mary, but curiously, he was curiously unimpressed by Mary's excellent record, of course, in school. His kind of intelligence that he lacked himself. He was fat and carelessly dressed; his slim, smart youthfulness gave him a feeling of coarseness and vulgarity that puzzled him, and kept him half apologetic in his relations with her. After the first day Mary thought this was the best job she had ever had in her life.

Steve's letters came to her twice a week for a while, and then dropped to once a week.

"Every day here is hot as the devil, and when I come home at night I'm dog tired," he wrote. They tell me I won't mind the summer heat so much after I get acclimated. It's all new to me, but I'm simply enchanted with the crudeness and barbarity of it all—it's opportunity in the raw. On Sunday's we rest and from now on I devote most of the day to writing a long weekly letter.

He made no mention of Eileen Calvert being there, and for the present Mary had no worry on that score. Eileen was too wise to present herself in the blistering heat.

of mid-summer to a fatigued and perspiring young man. Her attack would be withheld until the cooler season. No, Mary had no need, so far, to worry.

She was back now, rooming at her old place in the Eighties. Inasmuch as she expected to stay right there for the balance of the year, she tried to make the room more cheerful with cretonne curtains which she bought herself. A domestic impulse stirred her, and she used needle and scissors to make slip covers for her two chairs; a cot, masquerading by day as a sofa, replaced the iron bed. From now on, the room would be a snug little home until Steve returned. She seldom went out evenings, since it was pleasant to stay in with a book and dream of Steve. Bill took her to the theater and dinner twice; then he left for Europe, with his mother and father. Eileen, too, went abroad.

Jacob Woolfe encouraged Mary to read and allowed her to take books home from the shop. With thousands of volumes to select from, she invariably chose books of travel. When she was married to Steve, they would probably live in foreign parts, and she was engrossed with the descriptions and pictures of strange places. Oh, life was going to be wonderful.

With a book in her lap, she would lean back happily with closed eyes, while imagined scenes formed visions in her mind. Herself and Steve riding horseback on a mountain trail in some far off country—she was exquisitely happy now with these self-made pictures. Once a week his letters arrived filled with love and descriptions of Cuba. He was fascinated with the sugar business—he was counting the months until they could be married. Apparently, he had forgotten all about Eileen Calvert's proposed visit to the plantation, for he never mentioned it. Eileen, even in Mary's mind, became a remote and vague figure.

Each day at the shop she learned more about books, and gradually new interests began to awaken in her mind. The whole world of literature was beginning to open up like a flower unfolding; her eager intelligence foresaw an endless pursuit of enduring mental treasures. Without being aware of it, she was beginning to grasp the fundamentals of a deep education. Since her high school days she had done little or no reading, and she was surprised at this new thirst of the mind.

One day, walking home from the shop, she met Carlotta Guido on the street. The woman, smartly gowned as usual, stopped her, the dark eyes still sultry.

"So—I've been wondering what ever became of you," she said. "You got away from Buck Landers with your sweetheart—do you ever see him any more?"

"Not for ages," Mary told her. "And you?"

Carlotta shrugged her curving shoulders. "Oh, I see him now and then for dinner, maybe—but what is that? We are no longer lovers. It is not satisfactory, but it is better than nothing. At least, I know no other woman has him." The dark brow clouded with suspicion. "Are you sure you never see him any more?"

"Oh, no, and it wouldn't matter if I did. The last time I saw him, he told me he was all over his grand passion, as it were. I think he's thoroughly cured."

"He had better be!" said Carlotta, crisply. "Some day he's going to wish he had treated me right. I've let him off darn easy, so far."

"You don't sound very affectionate," Mary smiled.

"You know what men are yourself—all they bring to a woman is unhappiness. You love a man, and how does he treat you? Like a dog!"

At home that night, Mary tried to puzzle out in her own mind the nature of a woman like Carlotta Guido, but she failed. Both were women, yet their instincts were incomprehensible to each other. Love, with Carlotta, was solely a thing of passion and jealousy.... and vengeance.

She fell to wondering about Buck Landers, too. Was it coincidence—or telepathy—that brought him back into her life? Who could explain the association of personalities, and the vague but powerful power of human thought.... While Landers was in Mary's mind, as she sat in her room after dinner, he stood on the stoop of her house, ringing the door bell....

SCHOOL NEWS AND VIEWS

Interesting Items For Students, Teachers and Parents

By RALPH LONG, Jr.

Following the recommendation of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, some colleges have made it a practice to send reports to the principals of the high schools from which the students have graduated, as well as to the parents, showing not only the first semester grades of the individual, but also his relative position to the average in the class.

Students having an average of B or higher were: Mount Union, Ada Mae Hanna and Ernest Ashley Nargison; Ohio Wesleyan university, Mary Louise Miller and Florence E. Davis; Maryville college, Mary Frances Ressler; Lawrence college, Charles Lease; and Wooster, Selma Liebschner.

Many colleges do not do this so consequently the list is incomplete. These are the only grades received at the high school to date.

The officials, coaches and members of the various teams are to be congratulated upon the success of the girls intramural basketball tournament conducted the last two weeks.

Here are some statistics: 15 teams entered. Results of the first round: Hi Tri 8, Freshman 4. Spanish 17, Orange 13. Red 16, Debate 14. Blue 3, Salesmen 2. Seniors 14, Commerce 1. Juniors 14, Band 7. Library 12, Junior Science 8. Sophomores—(Bye).

Second Round: Sophomores 16, Hi-Tri 3. Spanish 11, Red 8. Seniors 8, Blue 4. Juniors 18, Library 2.

Finals: Seniors 20, Sophomores 16.

Betty Chappell of the seniors was awarded individual scoring honors with an average of nine points a game or a total of 36 points.

The seniors scored 65 points to their opponents' 39. The Blues defeated the Salesmen, 3 to 2, for the closest and lowest score of the tournament.

The most one-sided defeat came when the Seniors downed the Commerce Club 14 to 1, in the first round.

University Savants Inventory World's Gold

Total Amount of Precious Metal Would Fit in Cube Less Than 40 Feet. United States' Share Would Form 22-Foot Cube.

RETURNING HOARDED GOLD TO FEDERAL RESERVE

To satisfy the curiosity aroused by the recent financial crisis, of which gold was the storm center, professors of New York University set themselves the task of taking an approximate inventory of the total amount of precious metal in the world. They estimated that since Columbus came to America $23,000,000,000 worth of gold has been mined in the world. If this were melted into one block it would form a cube measuring 39 feet 11 inches on each side. Of this amount $12,000,000,000 worth is in bullion and coins. From this a cube measuring 32 feet 4 inches on each side could be made. This includes the United States supply, worth $5,045,000,000, which could form its own 22-foot cube. A large part of the world's gold, say the scientists, is hoarded in the Orient. They estimate the amount at $3,000,000,000, which could be packed in a box 20 feet 3 inches in every direction. Another block, the exact dimensions of the Orient hoard, could be formed by all the gold used in the world's jewelry, teeth, etc. There remains $5,000,000,000 which is unaccounted for, being written off as lost or used up. The gold still remaining in the earth is estimated at a mere $5,300,000,000 worth and could be accommodated in a room 29 feet square by 29 feet high. However, the savants point out that the oceans of the world contain at least $1,000,000,000,000 worth of gold. But there's a catch to it—for up to now no means has been devised for extracting the precious metal and making it pay—as a ton of sea water yields but two-tenths of a grain of gold.

ALGONAC, Mich.—Algonac accepts Canadian money at par. Trade with the Indians of Walpole Island is the reason. Walpole Island is about equidistant from the American and Canadian shores, and the Indians there receive an allotment of money from the Canadian government. However, merchants prevent outsiders from taking advantage of the system by circulating Canadian currency only among the natives of the town.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal.—Local hunters have been so busy worrying over business conditions they haven't had much time for hunting. Apparently, the deer became curious as to the lack of hunters and sent a delegation to investigate. Residents here were startled to see a full grown buck trotting down Highland ave. leading residential street, recently.

The Human Fort STOPS CANNON BALL!

ILLUSION:

A "strong man" once gave public performances in which he stopped a 9 lb. cannon ball shot from a fully charged cannon. The audience gasped when the gun flashed and the human Gibraltar stepped forward out of the smoke uninjured, with the 9 lb. shot in his hands.

EXPLANATION:

The trick lay in the way an assistant prepared the cannon for the performance. He used the regulation amount of powder and wadding, but placed the greater part of the charge of powder ahead of the shot. The cannon ball was propelled only by the small charge behind it which was just sufficient to lob the 9 lb. ball over to the strong man.

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

A performance sometimes staged in cigarette advertising is the illusion that cigarettes are made easy on the throat by some special process of manufacture.

EXPLANATION: All cigarettes are made in almost exactly the same way. Manufacturing methods are standard and used by all. A cigarette is only as good as the tobaccos it contains.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

In costly tobaccos you will find mildness, good taste, throat-ease. Smoke Camels critically, and give your taste a chance to appreciate the greater pleasure and satisfaction offered by the more expensive tobaccos. Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.

The Practical and the Pretty Cleverly Combined in New Sports Frocks

By MARIE MAROT

THE NEW sports frocks cleverly combine the practical with the pretty, with simplicity as the keynote. To give you an idea of how very smart a practical frock can be, here is a sketch of a model that will be gracing a golf course soon. It is in green jersey with gaily striped encrustations and a detachable printed scarf. The shoes are just made to tread a golf course, one being a modified ghillie, and the other the regular ghillie design. The first shoe is in mannish brown coarse-grained calf with perforated trimming. The other is in white peccary, a leather that seems due for popularity.

NOURISHING SOUPS CHILDREN

AND GROWNUPS WILL LIKE

Every mother who has to feed a family of hungry youngsters knows the virtues of good nourishing soups. And so in answer to many requests we have been searching for some more good soups and broths, ideal dishes for the youngsters' luncheon when they hurry home from school. The recipes here appended are as nourishing and tasty as they are economical as you will find when you prepare them. I have so often dwelt at length on the healthful qualities of lentil soup and so I trust that you will soon use the excellent recipe given here for it.

Soak 12 ounces of lentils in cold water for at least 12 hours, then peel and cut into small pieces, one medium sized onion and one carrot. Fry onion and carrot in one ounce of butter for a quarter of an hour, together with two sticks of celery cut up into small pieces. Then stir the lentils into the vegetables. Stir in three pints of cold water with a generous pinch of salt and of pepper and simmer gently for two hours. Pass through a sieve, add one cup of milk and let simmer for another few minutes. Thicken with one tablespoon of flour mixed to a smooth paste with cold water.

To Make Barley Broth

Here is a most excellent barley broth, a recipe that is used a great deal in Scotland by the thrifty, good Scotch housewife. Place one large cup of barley in two pints of white stock. Peel and cut into small pieces, one medium sized onion, one carrot and one small turnip. Add to the barley and let simmer for two hours. Remove as many of the pieces of carrot and turnip as possible and boil for half an hour longer. Take away from flame and stir in one and a quarter cups of milk and a little chopped parsley and continue to stir for five minutes.

A soup that is popular with youngsters and grownups alike is this very tasty green pea soup. Place in a saucepan one quart of green peas, two small onions peeled and cut into small pieces, a little chopped parsley and, if you have it, a little mint. Then pour over two pints of good stock and simmer for two hours.

Three Large Banks to Call on R. F. C.

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, March 27.—As soon as the three large northern Ohio banks—the Guardian and Union Trust Cos. of Cleveland and the First-Central Trust Co. of Akron—complete final plans for creation of new national banks, their officials will carry their cases directly to federal officials at Washington.

John K. McKee, chief of the examining division of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., who did much of that organization's work in connection with the Detroit banking situation, advised the three banks' officers to be prepared to leave for Washington "within the next few days."

He expressed satisfaction with the program of the banks' plans so far, but advised them to refrain from making any announcement of their intentions until they receive the approval of federal officials.

Columbus Mother Murdered in Car

COLUMBUS, March 27.—Their course darkened by a lack of clues, Columbus police today investigated all possible motives for the murder of Mrs. Eunice Haggard, pretty 25-year-old mother.

Her body, pierced by four bullets and bearing bruises and scratches, was found in her parked automobile Saturday night, 24 hours after she had visited a sick relative in a hospital.

Coroner Edward E. Smith said the woman apparently was killed while resisting an attempted criminal assault.

and other league-sponsored meetings but activity will be only perfunctory because of the lack of sympathy shown the Japanese empire, a government spokesman said. Japan has not only quit the great body of more than 50 nations making up the league but has cast aside the greatest recognition it ever received from the western world by simultaneously removing itself from the council or directing body of the league.

Report Adopted Feb. 24
The privy council's action came five weeks after the cabinet voted to withdraw if the league adopted the report on Manchuria which it was then considering. The report, censuring Japan for its seizure of Chinese territory, was adopted unanimously February 24.

The message today said "the Japanese government has come to the conclusion that it can no longer cooperate with the league" but it added that Japan hopes to continue cooperating with other nations in world peace movements.

Japan's resignation comes as a climax to a dispute which began shortly after Japan seized Mukden, Manchuria, on September 18, 1931, as a "defense measure" because Japanese-owned railway tracks in that area had been torn up by alleged Chinese bandits. Since then Japanese forces have battled their way to all incorners of Manchuria and have also brought Jehol under the rule of Manchukuo.

MARY LOU GOES SHOPPING

She is only eight, but even at this tender age, Mary Lou is a daily customer at the neighborhood stores. Perhaps it is a package of crackers, and a pound of coffee at the grocer's. Perhaps it is some tooth-paste or toilet soap at the drug store.

Of course Mary Lou doesn't decide on what she is going to buy. Her mother writes a list—this brand of crackers, this brand of coffee, this make of tooth-paste, this kind of soap. She knows the prices and gives Mary Lou just enough money, with an extra penny or two, perhaps, to spend for herself.

Buying is just as simple and easy as that because of just one thing—Advertising.

Advertising has given all of us a lot to be thankful for.

Because of advertising, people in Texas know about and buy Michigan motor cars. People in New Hampshire buy oranges raised in Florida and California. Because of advertising, merchants and manufacturers are forced to improve their products. It has standardized quality. It has increased consumption and thereby lowered costs. It promotes competition and thereby keeps dealers and merchants wide awake to secure for you the most for your money.

But best of all it writes "Finis" on the business career of any merchant or manufacturer who attempts to fool the public or give them less than value received.

INTERESTING RUSSIAN
LOATHES BOLSHIEVISM
REMARKABLE RASPUTIN

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1933 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

COUNT ILYA TOLSTOI, son of the great Russian, would interest you.

He is tall, with wide shoulders, his eyes deep set, blue, rarely smiles. Serious subjects occupy him. A flowing white beard, and all his features suggest the noble face of his father, rugged, earnest. The history of Russia, with its centuries of suffering and earnest thought, are written in that face.

You get from him no commonplace answer even to commonplace questions.

What became of Voltaire's library that Catherine the Second bought and took to Russia?

"Ah, that you would probably find in the hermitage."

A more important question is: "What became of the library of Ivan the Terrible?" The Shah of Persia gave it to him, with all that remained of the great library of Alexandria, three times burned.

"Who knows what treasures were in that library, what Greek manuscripts that we thought lost forever?"

"Some think it is hidden away under the floor of the Kremlin, with a vast Ivan treasure. The Bolsheviks are probably looking for both now."

THE SON of Tolstoi, who preached against violence, loathes bolshevism, believes that it is drawing to a close because the peasants will rise against it.

He agrees that Ivan the Terrible made an Asiatic nation of Russia, Peter the Great changed Asiatic Russia to a European nation, and now Stalin is trying overnight to make an industrial nation of peasants that know and want only agriculture.

He calls Ivan, Peter, Stalin, all three Bolsheviks. He does not like men that interfere with others and impose their will. He asks:

"But why call Ivan 'The Terrible' when you have Stalin? Bolshevism has killed 5,000,000. Ivan personally ordered perhaps 50,000 killed. He carried with him a little book in which were names of the 5,000 most important men that he put to death. Every night with his book he knelt in his chapel to pray, saying, 'God, I am here to pray for 5,000 that I have killed. Thou, God, knowest their names.' Strange is belief that the souls of 5,000 murdered would be helped by the prayers of the murderers."

YOU ASK who was Rasputin, suddenly forced upon American consciousness by three Barrymores. This answer comes:

"Well, Rasputin was a remarkable man. Like his father, he was a horse thief and a drunkard. Occasionally he would sober up, go into the forest and become inspired. Then he would visit monasteries and become religious. He exercised great power, was a remarkable man, considering that he was a horse thief and drunkard."

COUNT TOLSTOI knew Max Gorky, and told this story which should encourage young people of talent not yet recognized. Gorky, destined to be a famous writer, and Chaliapin, now a great operatic singer, were both penniless, almost starving.

They entered a great Russian church and asked the priest to let them sing in the choir. He hired Gorky to sing, sent Chaliapin away, telling him he had no voice.

"THEY are treating my father's estates in Russia well. My sister under bolshevism made a school of my father's great house. Bolsheviks fixed the roofs, made the repairs that my sister could not do. She made them do that. The Bolsheviks may deny God, but they cannot deny Tolstoi. Civilization would not tolerate it."

Count Tolstoi tells you that the sister who made Stalin take care of her father's house is now in America, "and very happy. On her little farm in Pennsylvania she has a cow, 100 chickens and she is writing a book. What else could she want?"

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Buck entertained a group of friends Friday evening at their home, Fairfield ave., "500" being the chief diversion. A delectable lunch was served at the conclusion of the games.

About 150 were present Friday evening at the annual mother-daughter banquet sponsored by the GHI Revere of Columbiana High school and held in the school auditorium. Miss Vivian Reemer, the president, welcomed the guests and Sally Detwiler served as toastmistress. The president-elect, Miriam Forbes, responded to the toast, "Looking Ahead." Other program numbers included: Two vocal solos by LaRue Miller; reading by Dorothy McGale; two piano solos by Miss Martha Kraus; sketch, "Written by the Swallow Back Home," written by Ruth Vollnogle and Vivian J. C. Strubel at the Presbyterian church. Members of the Missionary society will attend a meeting at Massillon Tuesday and Wednesday. The local Campfire Girls, with Miss Eleanor Lehman as leader, will meet Tuesday evening in the Municipal building.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wolf of Youngstown, are the parents of a son, born Thursday at St. Elizabeth's hospital. Mrs. Wolf is remembered here as Miss Betty Durkee. The boy has been named George J.

Albert Thoman, Willard Hoffman and Doris May, students at Ohio State university have been spending the mid-term vacation at their homes here.

The annual spring vacation of the Columbiana schools will be held the first week of April.

Will Exchange This Suburban Home for City Home

I have a party who has a first-class suburban home of eight rooms, which gives you four sleeping rooms. House strictly modern and is in a high class location as well as neighborhood. It also has little over an acre of ground with an abundance of shade and fruit. Garage for three cars. This party would consider trading for a 5 or 6 room house, which must be located good and must be a first-class property. For further particulars, see—

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

Ed Wynn has found quarters along radio row for the offices and studios of his new network.

He has leased two floors of the 30-story building directly across the street from the CBS studios and just a block east of Radio city.

Permission has been granted CBS to synchronize two of its mid-western units, WBBM, Chicago, and KFAB, Lincoln, Neb., located about 500 miles apart.

The synchronization, which permits simultaneous broadcasting of identical programs on the same wave, with little or no overlapping interference is in effect from 6 to 12, Central time, nightly.

Kate Smith was taken to the hospital over the week-end for the immediate treatment of blood poisoning in her legs. Although her condition was considered critical, it was thought possible the might be able to do her regular broadcast tomorrow night. At her appearance last Thursday night she was forced to sing while sitting down.

THE ETIQUETTE EDITOR

Andy Gump doesn't need an etiquette book to tell him how to behave.

He's got Min!

Good old Min always crashes through—usually at the wrong moment—to tell Andy what he should do and how he should do it.

And does he do it? Well—not always!

And that's why "The Gumps" is the most human, most exciting comic strip in the world; good for a laugh every day in the year!

Andy reproves little Chester. Then Min jumps down Andy's throat. At the critical moment Uncle Ben walks in from Australia—or Tilda breaks a dish in the kitchen.

Anti-Jap Demonstration on Matsuoka Arrival.

That Chinese in the United States share the resentment of their brothers in the homeland against Japan was made apparent when the Japanese delegation, which recently withdrew from the League of Nations arrived at New York, en route home. Forewarned of an impending demonstration, New York police supplied a heavy guard for Yosuke Matsuoka and his staff as they left the S. S. Leviathan. Top photo shows the scene at the pier as hundreds of Chinese, bearing signs denouncing Japan, paraded. Lower left, a policeman searches a Chinaman for weapons, and right, a demonstrator is subdued by police.

"State Fair," at State Today Boasts of Excellent Cast

EIGHT of the brightest of the screen stars in one film and that film is the State Fair, the best of the State Fair's offering today and Tuesday.

Rich in Comedy, Romance "State Fair" is a human interest story, the kind that most of us enjoy, rich with comedy and romance and made notable by a cast which called forth some of the foremost stars.

It places every role in the hands of a most capable player. It is clean and appealing.

There is no great problem but it takes the audience right down into the very heart of a lovable farm family on their big week at the state fair. Their important doings become the very plot.

A Wonderful Cast Such a cast is seldom seen.

There is Will Rogers as the kind and lovable farmer whose interests are wrapped up in Blue Boy, his prize hog. Some of the scenes with Will and the hog (which, by the way, is the prize hog at Columbus fair) are among the funniest of the picture.

Then Janet Gaynor has never seemed more wistful and sweet, yet she has a lively and up to date role too, and she plays it very well.

Louise Dresser as the practical mother and wife who puts brandy in the mince meat, rather against her own will, only to win the much coveted prize along with the prize for the best pickles, is great.

She makes you glad all over that she is the winner.

Norman Foster is the son who gets even with the man at the ring game who the year before swindled him out of eight dollars for a phony revolver. He is at his very best.

His dumb stare and awkward walk had the Sunday night audience in laughter all through the picture. He falls in love with the trapeze artist, capably played by Sally Eilers.

Low Ayres as the reporter whose romance with Janet furnishes most of the love interest, has a much lighter role than he usually plays and seemed to be right at home with it.

Victor Jory does a great deal

with a small role as the fair man as does Frank Craven as the country store keeper.

Simple, Fine Story It is a simple story. There is no trace of a villain in it and there are no dramatic situations but it goes to show how successful and thoroughly enjoyable a picture of its kind, enacted, of course, by an excellent cast, can be.

Att'y Robert Abbey Is Dead in Canton

(By Associated Press) CANTON, March 27—Robert P. Abbey, prominent Canton attorney, died at his home here at noon today after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was 49.

Born in China, the son of Presbyterian missionaries, Abbey came to the United States at the age of eight. He was graduated from Wooster college and Cleveland law school.

He practiced law in Cleveland and was identified with the Lake Erie Bank & Trust Co. and the Midland bank at Cleveland as trust officer. He came to Canton eight years ago to become trust officer for the First National bank. Last June he resigned to engage in the practice of law.

His widow and three sons survive.

Two Negroes Sought In Texas Shooting

HOUSTON, Texas, March 27.—Poses today were trailing two Negroes who allegedly shot to death William W. Porch, 45, and attacked his companion, Miss Adele Torian, 24.

The hysterical young woman told police she and her escort, both of prominent families, were seated in an automobile about 12:30 a. m., when the Negroes appeared, one on each side of the car. The Negroes ordered them out of the car.

"I thought I told you to hold up your hands," one of the Negroes said, according to Miss Torian. Immediately after speaking, the Negro fired the shot which killed Porch, who was facing the other Negro. The bullet penetrated his back.

Miss Torian said she threw herself over her body and begged the Negroes for mercy pleading with them to take Porch to a hospital. Then one of them picked her up bodily while the other dragged Porch's body into a thick woods.

The Negroes then rifled Porch's pockets and fled.

Hits False Prosperity

A warning against being caught in the snare of a false prosperity was issued by Rev. C. F. Bailey to his congregation Sunday evening when he preached the second of a series of sermons on the "Second Coming of Jesus Christ."

The theme for last night's message was "The Rapture of the Marriage Supper of the Lamb."

While Rev. Bailey believes the coming of Jesus Christ is imminent, he states that anyone who would set the day for His coming was not under the leadership of God, for the Bible declares that "no man knows the day nor the hour of His coming."

The Bible lesson used by Rev. Bailey was a part of the 24 and 25 chapters of Matthew.

Missionary To Speak

would be taken up immediately in the senate for action.

At the same time, sponsors of the president's proposal for a $500,000 unemployment relief fund announced they would offer it on the floor as an amendment to the reforestation bill.

Approval in the senate committee for the measure giving the president broad authority to put men to work in the nation's forests was easy, but in the house committee a measure by Chairman Connery came up first. It was rejected by 13 to 7.

Eliminate Wage Reference In the senate measure, there was a reference to the $1 a day wage that would be paid men enlisted in a civilian conservation corps and instead the president was given power to put an employment plan in operation. Senators understood, however, that he would be free to go ahead with his plan as originally proposed.

Connery, who had opposed the president's plan on the ground that the $1 a day wage would have a bad effect on the wage scale for unskilled labor had proposed in his measure that wages up to $80 a month be paid the men.

Middletown Woman Slain By Husband

MIDDLETOWN, March 27.—Resumption of a quarrel that had caused them to separate ended today in the shooting and killing of Mrs. Bertha Ring, 25, beauty parlor operator, by her husband, Charles, 27, police said.

The shooting occurred in the woman's shop on Central ave. here as her assistant, Mrs. Iva Bryan, looked on in horror.

Officers were told that domestic quarrels led Ring to leave his wife and their three children Friday, and that he returned today saying he wanted some clothing he had left behind.
